

What equipment do I need to participate in a Teams video call?

A video and audio device is required, such as a headset, earbuds, speakers and a webcam connected to your computer.

Can I connect to a Teams video call with my smartphone?

Yes, Teams is compatible with both Android and iPhone devices. The app can be downloaded from their respective App stores and used for your meeting.

Can I connect to a Teams video call with my phone line?

Teams offers the capability of allowing for phone line connections. When the host creates the Teams meeting, the audio information is pre-populated in the body of the email invite. You can find the connection information in your invite under the Or call in (audio only) section.

In recurring meetings, I receive chat notifications from each new meeting even if I am not attending on that specific day. How do I stop these chat messages?

These notifications can be disabled in the application by clicking on Settings-Notifications-Meetings. Once here, under Meeting Chat Notifications, change the setting to Mute until I join or send a message.

In recurring meetings, how do I remove guests who are not attending on a specific day from receiving chat notifications?

In the top right corner of the meeting window there is a button called chat. This opens the chat window showing the list of users. Placing your cursor over the person you want to remove. This will show an X that will allow you to remove them from receiving further notifications.

Is Microsoft Office required to use Teams?

If you want to create video calls and use all the features included such as video calls, instant messaging, and Teams channels, a modern version of Microsoft Office is required. If you just want to attend a video call that another person invited you to then Microsoft Office is not required.

How do I send an Instant Message to other users in Teams?

Using the search bar at the top of the Teams screen, type a user's name and if they have been provisioned with Teams they will appear. After clicking on their name, it will open up the chat function where you can send them an instant message.

How do I collaborate and share files with a group in Teams?

On the left side panel of the Teams application, there is a button called Teams. This allows users to create groups which can be public or private. A Team can be created, and then any users who may want to collaborate on files or communication can be invited.

Where are further training resources located?

Quick Reference Guides and training videos are available on the MBTelehealth website: <https://mbtelehealth.ca/training/>.

Teams has a built in help feature available in the bottom left corner of the screen for in-application assistance or click here for Microsoft Teams training videos by Microsoft.